As the world is plagued by the Covid pandemic we are witnessing an unparalleled growth of the global economy looking forward to address a crisis that affects all of us. To what can we do? It goes without saying that taking to the world has proven to be the most viable. Sri Vasavi Engineering College came up with an initiative called 'Go Green with Saplings' to encourage students to be environmentally conscious during the pandemic. We are proud to challenge for a social media challenge in the field of environmental. This is to encourage to plant green and pass over the challenge setting the student community. We create video to create awareness which we have been reposting. To deal with the drought of your breaking the 50 green... remember to go green with you. To see the growth of these saplings, students have shown that spending short amount of time in doing some small amount of work, students and several people environmentally participate should have a positive impact.
